REPORT

California Polytechnic State University, San Luis Obispo 93407

Vol. 50, No. 27

April 18, 1997

A&ED emeritus Schwartz earns national award

Ken Schwartz, retired College of Architecture and Environmental Design associate director and professor and former mayor of San Luis Obispo, received the 1997 American Planning Association's Distinguished Leadership Award for an Elected Official.

Schwartz was cited for significant contributions to excellence in public planning.

Last fall, Schwartz received a statewide award from the association.

Credited for his work in shaping the city's growth and physical design, he is perhaps best known for his efforts in reviving San Luis Obispo's downtown.

While a city planning commissioner, Schwartz was the driving force that resulted in the creation of the plaza in front of the Mission. He also spearheaded a movement to clean up the creek that flows through downtown.

Schwartz founded and served as program leader of the university's City and Regional Planning Department. He served five terms as mayor.

Ambassadors group to meet Saturday

Members of Cal Poly's Ambassadors for Higher Education will meet for the first time on Saturday, April 19, at the Smith Alumni and Conference Center.

More than 40 community and business leaders were invited by President Baker to serve as advocates for higher education in general and for Cal Poly specifically.

This new program, initiated on a statewide level by the CSU Board of Trustees, is designed to represent Cal Poly's interests in the political arena by having members communicate directly with local, state and national officials. At the same time, they will join ambassadors at other campuses to support the interests of the CSU system as a whole and contribute to the program's role in California's economic and social future.

ADVANCEMENT

In-kind gift valued at $416,000 donated to IME

The Watkins-Johnson Company has donated materials valued at $416,000 to the Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department.

The gift, which includes manufactured parts made of stainless steel, aluminum and plastic, will be used by students to learn about the manufacturing process involved in making the different items.

Cal Poly alumnus Tom Van Diepen was responsible for the donation from the Santa Cruz-based company. Van Diepen earned a bachelor's degree in engineering technology in 1992 and a master's in materials engineering in 1995.

Alptekin appointed

Sema Alptekin, a member of the Industrial and Manufacturing Engineering Department since 1994, has been appointed chair of the department, effective fall quarter. She will serve for three years.

April 23-24 forums to give, take Plan info

Open forums will be held April 23 and 24 to provide answers and hear comments on the Cal Poly Plan.

The Wednesday, April 23, forum will be from 3:30 to 5 pm in Room 286 of Fisher Science. On Thursday, April 24, the forum will run from 1:40 to 3 pm in the Business Rotunda (Room 213).

Discussion will be led by a panel of Cal Poly Plan Steering Committee members.

Everyone is welcome and encouraged to attend. Students especially are invited.

Parking, traffic changes on Open House weekend

Expect traffic delays and limited parking on campus today (April 18) and Saturday, April 19.

Those who do not receive a copy can get more information or a copy of the memo from Public Safety Services at ext. 6663.

Two students honored for heroism

Two students have been honored for heroism by the mayor of San Luis Obispo.

Metropolitan Opera star to give April 24 recital

Hillhouse will also perform songs from Mahler's Second Symphony and Holst's "The Cloud Messenger."

A member of the Glyndebourne Festival Opera, Hillhouse is also known as an accomplished concert artist. She has performed with the symphony orchestras of Boston, Seattle, Dallas, Pittsburgh, Denver and Reno.

The recital is sponsored by the Music Department and College of Liberal Arts. For more information, call the Music Department at ext. 2406.

SLO Co Voice of Dance to perform April 30

A new 150-member Central Coast dance organization, SLO Co Voice of Dance, will present a National Dance Week concert at 7 pm Wednesday, April 30, in the Christopher Cohan Center's Harman Hall.

The show, "Breaking Boundaries – A Celebration in Dance," will unite a dozen Central Coast dance companies from Paso Robles to Santa Maria with performers from ages 7 to 70.

"The group focuses on the diversity of dance on the Central Coast. Ballet, tap, modern, jazz, and cultural dances will highlight the performance," said Maria Junco, theatre and dance professor and assistant director of the university's Orchesis Dance Company.

The evening will include the university's Pilipino Cultural Exchange performing the national dance of the Philippines and a power-packed mountain dance.

The intricate and fast-paced rhythms of Sinaloa, Mexico, will come alive in a colorful dance by the Ballet Folklorico Imagen y Espirita de Cal Poly.

The Orchesis Dance Company will perform a jazz-blues piece staged by nationally recognized choreographers Dennon and Saybher Rawles.

Dances by award-winning jazz choreographer Suzy Miller will be performed by the Allan Hancock Dance Ensemble and Pat Jackson's All American Dancers.

Tickets to the performance, hosted by Orchesis, are $6 to $12.

For more information, call the Theatre and Dance Department at ext. 1465.

'March for Parks' set for April 27

On Sunday, April 27, San Luis Obispo residents will take part in "March for Parks," a national event to support parks and open spaces.

The local march that will be held to raise money to preserve the Morros will begin at 10 am at Laguna Lake Park with a rally, followed by a walk through the park. The event will end with a raffle at 2 pm.

Participants willing to march and solicit pledges are being sought to help with the project. Money raised from the Laguna Lake walk will go to the Sierra Club to fund projects to further protect the Morros, natural resources.

Local sponsors include the Cal Poly March for Parks Committee, the Sierra Club, and San Luis Obispo Parks and Recreation.

Kathy Mattea to sing May 4 at Cal Poly

Country star Kathy Mattea will sing at 7 pm Sunday, May 4, in the Christopher Cohan Center's Harman Hall.

"Love Travels," Mattea's new album and the focus of her current singing tour, combines her early folk influences with an eclectic mix of Caribbean percussion, New Orleans funk, Memphis soul, and Celtic-influenced accordion and whistle.

The double Grammy-winner has been twice named Female Vocalist of the Year by the Country Music Association.

Tickets for the concert are $15 and $22.50.

...Two students honored

Proclamations of Heroism for their part in helping the victims of a car accident.

In the early morning hours of March 7, roommates Pollard and Fell were awakened by the sound of a car crash outside their residence. The roommates called 911 and then ran toward the vehicle.

Two injured passengers were lying in the street, one unconscious. Pollard and Fell helped the conscious victim to safety, away from the wreck that had burst into flames.

At that point the driver, who had left the scene to look for help, returned, and with Pollard and Fell's assistance, was able to drag the unconscious passenger away from the burning car. Unfortunately this victim did not survive his injuries.

Unless stated otherwise, you can buy tickets to the performances listed in today's Cal Poly Report at the Performing Arts Ticket Office from 10 am to 6 pm weekdays and from 10 am to 4 pm Saturdays. To order by phone, dial ARTS (ext. 2787).

Two Festival Concerts set for April 19-20

Two Festival Concerts featuring wind orchestras and jazz bands are planned during Open House weekend, Saturday and Sunday, April 19-20, in Harman Hall in the Christopher Cohan Center.

The first Festival Concert, to begin at 8 pm April 19, will be conducted by music professor William Johnson and performed by the Cal Poly Wind Orchestra, the Cal Poly Wind Ensemble, and the University Jazz Bands.

The April 20 performance by the All-State High School Festival Wind Orchestra will begin at 2:30 pm. The concert brings together 80 of California's most talented young musicians under the baton of Geoffrey Brand, one of England's leading wind-band conductors.

Tickets to each concert range from $3 to $8.

Concert-goers can save 15 percent by buying tickets to three different Wind Orchestra and University Jazz Band events this season. Concerts remaining are the two Festival Concerts, the Spring Band Concert on Saturday, May 17, and Jazz Night on Saturday, May 31. For more information, call the ticket office.

Feminist scholar to talk May 1

The implications and significance of multiple social identities in the classroom will be the subject of a lecture by an acclaimed feminist scholar from 4:10 to 5:30 pm Thursday, May 1, in the Christopher Cohan Center's Philips recital hall.

Drawing on parts of a recently published book she co-authored, "The Feminist Classroom," Tetreault will discuss the teaching challenges created by students and teachers of different races, genders, social classes and cultures.

The free presentation is sponsored by the Women's Studies Program and is funded by the College of Liberal Arts Lottery Lecture Series.

For more information, call the Women's Studies Program office at ext. 1525.

Women's activism topic of May 8 talk

A nationally recognized expert on the history of women will talk on American women's activism at 11 am Thursday, May 8, in the Business Rotunda (Room 213).

Hewitt, a history professor at Duke University who is currently a fellow at the Center for Advanced Studies in the Behavioral Sciences at Stanford University, will examine the circumstances under which women first demanded the vote.

She will explore the multiple definitions of women's rights discussed at Seneca Falls and compare how those concepts related to other debates in the mid-1800s over women's roles among Seneca Indians, Mexicans, African Americans, and Irish immigrants.

Hewitt will also trace the relationship of these various groups to the battle for women's suffrage in the 20th century.

The lecture is one in a series sponsored by the College of Liberal Arts, Women's Studies Program, and History Department.

For more information, call history professor George Cotkin at ext. 2543 or send an e-mail message to gctokin@calpoly.edu.

Ballroom Dance Club sets spring schedule

The Ballroom Dance Club has set its spring quarter schedule with lessons in the two-step, the East and West Coast swing, and the tango, beginning Sunday, April 13, in the Odd Fellow's Hall, 520 Dana Street, San Luis Obispo.

The first lesson will be in the "nite club" two-step. The beginners' class will be at 6 pm, and intermediate lessons begin at 7.

East Coast swing lessons are slated for Sundays, April 20, 27 and May 4, at 6 pm for beginners and 7 for intermediate.

West Coast swing lessons will be held Sundays, May 11 and 18 and June 1, also at 6 pm for beginners and 7 for intermediate.

The club has also scheduled weekly dance socials at the Madonna Inn every Wednesday from 8 to 10 pm.

The cost of the lessons vary. For more information, call Karan Greer at 783-2571 or visit the club's Web site at <http://www.calpoly.edu/~hjew/BDC>.

Juried Student Exhibit on display April 11-May 4

More than 120 works in a variety of media will be on view at the Annual Juried Student Art Exhibit, scheduled to open with an artists' reception from 6 to 8 pm Friday, April 11, in the University Art Gallery in the Dexter Building.

The show, titled "Slick Like Vinyl," will run through Sunday, May 4. It will feature photography, graphic and basic design, and two- and three-dimensional studio art.

The exhibit is a collaborative project between the university's Art and Design Department and College of Architecture and Environmental Design.

University Art Gallery hours are every day from 11 am to 4 pm plus Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9.

Animal Science to host horse camp for youths

The Animal Science Department will hold a camp for young horse enthusiasts Tuesday through Friday, July 8-11.

Riders from nine to 19 can join in the camp's daily small-group sessions and individual instruction in basic horsemanship, safety around horses, grooming, riding and showmanship. The camp will conclude with a horse show.

Participants bring their own horses and keep them at the university's horse unit.

For more information on the 1997 Cal Poly Youth Horse Camp, call Mike Lund, animal science professor and camp coordinator, at ext. 2419 or ext. 2558.

♦ Third place - English senior Deanna M. Wallo.

Those earning an honorable mention for poetry are: Wendy Lawton, a graduate student in English; Aaron Owen, English senior; and Ben Rothstein, graduate student in English.

Selected manuscripts will be published in Byzantium, a campus literary publication on sale at El Corral after the reading.

The reading and ceremony are sponsored by the English Department and College of Liberal Arts.

For more information, call English professor Kevin Clark at ext. 2506.

Pest management topic of conference

The Environmental Horticultural Science Department is sponsoring a two-day conference on pest control on Monday and Tuesday, June 16-17.

The Environmental Horticulture Integrated Pest Management Conference is designed to provide the latest information on pest control for greenhouses, nurseries, turf, and landscapes.

The program, co-sponsored by the Environmental Horticultural Science Club, combines applied research with industry information on how to use emerging pest control technologies.

Participants will hear from the manufacturers of the latest products and be able to compare low-volume application equipment in operation.

The conference also provides an opportunity to earn continuing education credits.

Registration will begin at 8 am on June 16. Conference sessions will be held in the Business Building, Room 113.

The fee is $100 for reservations received by Wednesday, April 30, and $125 after that date. Students with I.D. can register for $25. The fee includes parking and coffee.

For more information, call environmental horticultural science professor Bob Rice at ext. 2279 or 2830.

Contest winners to read fiction, poetry April 19

The winners of the 1997 Creative Writing Contest will read from their entries in poetry and fiction and receive cash awards during a ceremony beginning at 7 pm Saturday, April 19, in the Sandwich Plant.

The event will also include readings by students who received an honorable mention.

The winners in the fiction category are:

♦ First place - Susannah Clay Jenkins, who won for a piece titled "Something in French." Jenkins, a graduate student in English, also won first place in fiction last year, becoming the only repeat first-place winner in the contest's 27-year history.

SME student chapter wins 2nd in competition

The Cal Poly student chapter of the Society of Manufacturing Engineers (SME) took second place in a student project competition at the WESTEC '97 Exposition in Los Angeles, and Ben Swan, chapter chairman, won the Johnson student leadership award of $250 plus computer-aided-manufacturing software.

The students placed in the four-year university division of the "Manufacturing Challenge" category.

The chapter projects involved re-engineering of a motor casting design involving computer solid modeling, solidification simulation, rapid prototyping, plus a mechatronic project involving a volume-pedal-testing apparatus for local guitar manufacturer Ernie Ball Co.

Weatherby awarded Malone Fellowship

Political science professor Joe Weatherby has been awarded a Joseph J. Malone Fellowship to participate in a two-week Arab and Islamic studies program in Saudi Arabia this spring.

Weatherby is one of 13 educators and community leaders in the country chosen for the program that explores issues regarding U.S. relations with Saudi Arabia and the Arab Gulf countries.

Associate Dean Rockman invited to institute

Ilene Rockman, associate dean at the Kennedy Library, is one of 15 librarians and information specialists from the United States and Canada to be invited to the 1997 Senior Fellows Institute at Long Island University's Palmer School of Library and Information Science.

Rockman, chosen for the three-and-one-half-week program because of her professional leadership role, will explore information policy concerns, current issues in higher education, inter-organizational matters, changes in the profession, and the impact of technology on information access and delivery.

Statistics provides consulting service

The Statistics Department provides a consulting service to facilitate research design and data analysis in a variety of disciplines.

John Groves, the main consultant spring quarter, can help in the design and analysis of research projects. He can also lead seminars and tutorials on requested topics and advise on computer packages available at Cal Poly. If some special area concerning statistical inference is of interest to a department or group, contact Groves to arrange lectures on that subject.

Groves' office is in Room 109 in Faculty Offices East. He can be reached at ext. 2901, via e-mail at jgroves (@calpoly.edu, for those not on OfficeVision), or messages can be left at ext. 2709.

Walk-in Consulting Hours:

Mondays .....	12:30-1:30 pm
Wednesdays .....	4:10-5 pm
Thursdays .....	12:40-1:30 pm

Office Hours for Students

Mondays and Wednesdays .. 3:10-4 pm

Tuesdays .....12:40-1:30 pm

Landscape arch grads to speak on Rome Prize

Two landscape architecture graduates will speak at 5 pm on Friday, April 25, on "The Rome Prize: Before and After" in the Business Building Rotunda (Room 213).

Leslie Ryan and Gail Wittwer won the coveted year-long fellowship for study at the American Academy in Rome in consecutive years. Ryan, who graduated in 1986, won the prize for study in the Italian capital in 1994 and 1995. Wittwer, a 1988 graduate, studied in Rome in 1995-96.

Both are now award-winning professionals. Ryan is in private practice in the San Francisco Bay Area and has a special interest in "healing gardens."

Wittwer, a landscape painter as well as designer, practices in both San Francisco and New York City. She earned a master's degree in landscape architecture at Harvard University's Graduate School of Design in 1995.

The talk is part of the College of Architecture and Environmental Design's 1997 Hearst Lecture Series, funded by a grant from The Hearst Foundation Inc.

For more information, call Tom Skelton at ext. 1321.

Counselor Conference set for April 25

Some 160 community college and high school counselors from throughout the state are expected to attend Cal Poly's 20th annual statewide Counselor Conference from 8 am to 4 pm Friday, April 25, in the UU.

Sponsored by the Admissions Office and the Poly Reps student organization, the conference aims to inform and update counselors about Cal Poly's academic and student services programs, and familiarize them with the university's "hands-on" educational experience.

Attendees will attend workshops in career services, admissions computer technology, and the university's admissions process. Faculty and student panels, campus tours, and a networking session are also planned.

For more information call Tony Domingues, Admissions Office, ext. 5477.

PERS board election deadline approaching

The California Public Employees' Retirement System (CalPERS) will conduct an election later this year for two member-at-large representatives on the CalPERS Board of Administration.

The board is responsible for the management and control of CalPERS, including exclusive control of the administration and investment of the retirement fund and renewal of the annual health insurance contracts for state employees. The new term of office will begin Jan. 16, 1998, and expire Jan. 15, 2002.

Eligible active and retired members of CalPERS, excluding survivors and beneficiaries, will have an opportunity to vote for two candidates.

Printed procedures for becoming a candidate and the election schedule are included in the Notice of Election, posted in Human Resources. The material was also distributed to each campus department.

Nomination petitions for potential candidates, available from PERS, must contain at least 250 original signatures of active or retired members and must be received at the CalPERS headquarters in Sacramento by 5 pm on May 27.

Ballots will be mailed directly to eligible active and retired members on Oct. 1. Marked ballots must be postmarked or received by CalPERS by Nov. 28.

Any eligible member who does not receive a ballot by Nov. 7 should contact the PERS Board Elections Office at (800) 794-2297 or (916) 326-3952.

Human tissue engineering topic of banquet talk

Gail Naughton, president and chief operating officer of a leading human tissue engineering firm, will give the keynote talk at the College of Engineering's annual Awards Banquet tonight (April 18).

With the theme "Engineering the Future," the banquet is set to begin at 6 pm at the Embassy Suites. The event will honor outstanding faculty and staff members and outstanding seniors.

Naughton, of Advanced Tissue Sciences Inc. in La Jolla, will talk on the latest technology in developing and manufacturing human tissue replacement products for tissue repair and transplantation. She co-founded the company in 1986 and co-invented its core technology.

Last month the U.S. Food and Drug Administration approved the marketing of the company's product, Derma-graft-TC, the first human fibroblast-derived temporary skin substitute used as a temporary wound covering.

Used for severe thermal burns on patients who require a deep wound covering prior to grafting with skin from the patient's own body, Derma-graft-TC is designed to substitute for currently used cadaver skin.

According to Naughton, "The new product offers highly effective wound coverage without the same risks of rejection, sloughing or disease transmission."

Naughton earned a Ph.D. in basic medical sciences from New York University Medical Center in 1981 and completed her post-doctoral training at NYU Medical Center in the Department of Dermatology.

CPR schedule

The Cal Poly Report is published by the Communications Office every Friday when school is in session (every other Friday during summer).

Please submit items by 1 pm on the Friday before you'd like them to appear.

For information, call ext. 1511, or e-mail articles, suggestions, and questions to polynews.

Computer users on the AIX system can simply use the polynews address without further ado.

Those on OfficeVision need to create a names file. To do that, type "names" at the OV main menu. Type "polynews" at the "nickname" prompt. Tab down to the first "tag" line and type "email." Directly to the right of the tag, type "polynews@polymail.calpoly.edu". Press the F-2 key to "add" and hit F-3 to "quit" and return to the main menu. Then when sending an e-mail message, address it to polynews.

All publications should be reviewed

Departments are reminded that all university publications going off campus (newsletters, brochures, etc.) should be sent to Darlene Slack, director of communications, for review prior to printing and distribution.

Requests for mailing labels from either Support Applications or Advancement Services also need to be approved by Slack as well as the material to be mailed.
